

WAS IT A WISE MEASURE?

The San Francisco Bulletin is in some respects very much like our Nevada Republican papers on the silver question. It occasionally admits that the free coinage of silver would result beneficially to the country, while at other times it takes a goldbig view of the monetary situation. In a recent issue it states the fact that the Government under the act of July 14, 1890, that is the Sherman act, purchased 168,674,632 ounces of fine silver at a cost of $155,961,002, or 92.4 cents per ounce. If this silver had been coined it would have made $213,084,433 and netted the Government a profit of $57,123,431. Some of the silver has been coined, but there is still on hand in the Treasury vaults $7,674,000 ounces, which cost the Government $124,060,323, and the coinage value of which is $177,981,400. If the Government would coin this silver it would derive a profit of $53,920,077 from the transaction, but were it obliged to sell it at the present market rate of 87-67 cents per ounce it would sustain a loss of $31,878,943. In view of this heavy depreciation the Bulletin says "The act of November 1, 1893, suspending the purchase of silver, is seen to have been a wise measure."

As the Government derived a profit of $53,920,077 from that portion of the bullion purchased under the act of 1890, which it did coin, the Bulletin must see that if it should be compelled to sell the bullion now on hand at 67 cents per ounce the loss on the whole amount purchased would be only $22,525,506, not $31,878,943. But why not coin the bullion instead of letting it remain as useless as a pile of rubbish in the Government vaults? It was paid for in Treasury notes which only cost the Government the paper on which they are printed and the labor expended in printing them. These notes are redeemable in silver dollars and bear on their face the legend "Redeemable in coin." If the bullion was coined into dollars every Treasury note could be redeemed with those dollars and the Government would have $53,920,077 more in the Treasury with which to meet its obligations. Would not that be preferable to mortgaging the country to the gold syndicate for money to pay the expenses of the Government? The people want more money in circulation. They are satisfied with standard dollars or notes redeemable in such dollars. The mints at Carson City and at New Orleans, now closed, could be used to coin the silver and the Government would profit to the extent of $53,920,077 by the transaction. Issuing bonds for money does not increase the amount of money in circulation, but it does increase the interest which the Government—the people—must pay. Why then was the passage of the act of 1893, suspending the purchase of silver, a wise measure?

THE GRANGE AND THE TARIFF LEAGUE.

The JOURNAL has on several occasions called attention to the fact that David Lubin of Sacramento is advocating the payment of a bounty on exports of agricultural staples as an act of justice to farmers as long as there is a protective tariff on imports. The American Protective Tariff League requested Mr. Lubin to contribute to the fund in aid of the work of that league. He handed the president of the bank of D. O. Mills & Co. at Sacramento $1,000, with instructions to pay the same to the league, provided a committee of five, impartially selected, would decide that the present system of protection by tariff on imports is just and equitable to the producers of agricultural staples as long as there is a surplus of these to export, or that a bounty on agricultural staples would be unjust or inequitable as long as there is a protective tariff on imports.

Now, the JOURNAL is in receipt of a communication from the California State Grange, under seal of the grange, and attested by the secretary, which states that the Protective Tariff League refused to submit to the above offer, and that 7,000 farmers at the Inter-State Harvest Home on September 4th did submit the issue of principle in the above proposition to Hon. William McKinley of Ohio, to which no reply was made. As the American Protective League is assumed to be the representative exponent of protection, the California State Grange, at its annual meeting at Merced, October 1 to 5, 1895, resolved to respectfully request said tariff league to forward to the secretary replies to the following questions: First—Is the present system of protection by tariff on imports just and equitable to the producers of agricultural staples as long as there is a surplus of these for export?

Second—Will a bounty on the exports of agricultural staples be unjust or inequitable as long as there is a protective tariff on imports? The farmers are realizing that producers of agricultural staples receive no benefit from the tariff on imports and, in fact, that they have to pay that duty for the benefit of the manufacturers, and they think it but just and equitable that they should be treated as fairly as the manufacturers. The Tariff League will not accept the conditions upon which it can get a thousand dollars from Mr. Lubin, nor will Governor McKinley answer the questions asked him by over seven thousand farmers, and it now remains to be seen if the California State Grange will succeed in getting a reply from the Tariff League.

THE ELECTIONS.

A HEAVY REPUBLICAN VOTE POLLED.

Lawlessness in Maryland and Virginia — Hubbard Elected Mayor of Sacramento.

Special to the JOURNAL.

California.
SACRAMENTO, November 5.—Owing to a heavy rain, the vote to-day was comparatively light. The fight was a close one on Mayor O. H. Hubbard being elected by a small plurality.

Pennsylvania.
PHILADELPHIA, November 5.—Few returns are in, but all show that the Republican ticket is elected unanimously. Only one county showed a Democratic majority.

Utah.
SALT LAKE, November 5.—In eighty precincts heard from a heavy vote was cast, but few returns are in. Nothing definite is known. Roberts, Democratic candidate for Congress, will run against Mr. Tackett. The Republicans will control both branches of the Legislature.

Salt Lake has gone 800 Republican majority, electing James Glendenning Mayor.

Maryland.
BALTIMORE, November 5.—Scattering information elects Lowndes (Rep.) Governor and Hooper (Rep.) Mayor. The Republicans claim a majority of 10,000 in the State.

Baltimore is in a state of turmoil. The people were very disorderly at the polls. Ballot boxes were smashed and several shots were fired, but there were no deaths.

New York.
NEW YORK, November 5.—Brooklyn returns indicate the election of Groat (Dem.) for Mayor, and the Democratic county ticket is elected.

In New York city the Republicans elect three Senators and the Democrats nine.

A World bulletin says that Philadelphia has gone Republican by 60,000.

The Sun says the Republican majority in New York will reach 80,000.

The Times says Gorman's ticket is defeated in Maryland.

The Tribune says the Republicans will carry New Jersey by 20,000.

The Times says Greenhalge will win in Massachusetts by 60,000.

The Sun says Bushnell's majority in Ohio is 80,000.

The World says the Senate and Assembly in New York will be heavily Republican.

Twelve hundred and fifty-one precincts in New York city give Palmer 83,356 and King 124,520.

The Times says the Republicans carry the State by 40,000.

The Journal claims the Republican majority at 70,000.

Captain Williams of police fame was beaten by Foley (Rep.) for the State Senate more than two to one.

Lexow and the Republican Assemblymen are all elected.

J. C. Sheehan concedes New York State to the Republicans, although the city has gone Democratic.

A. J. Cummings (Dem.) was elected to Congress by a big majority.

Illinois.
SPRINGFIELD, November 5.—Ex-State Senator Hadley (Rep.), is elected from the Eighteenth Congressional District to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Edward Reman last summer. The State is generally Republican. Four hundred precincts counted for Judge, Bull (Rep.) has 32,333, 10,000 over Morrison (Dem.).

Ohio.
COLUMBUS, November 5.—The Republican plurality for the State ticket is increasing hourly. Republicans will have a large majority in the Assembly. The Democrats concede the Republican county ticket at Cleveland by 4,000. The Republicans will carry the State by a majority equal to that of McKinley two years ago.

Nebraska.
OMAHA, November 5.—Incomplete returns at this city show that Norvil (Rep.) has carried the State by 20,000 over Maxwell (Pop) for the Supreme Court. The Omaha Republican ticket backed by the A. P. A., was beaten by the Democrat and Citizen party over 2,000. W. J. Broatch (Rep.) was elected Mayor.

Kentucky.
LEXINGTON, November 5.—Scratching all over the State, Hardin (Dem.) thought to be the strongest for Governor. The Republicans carry Louisville and Jefferson; Lafayette county shows tight Republican gains.

Kansas.
TOPEKA, November 5.—Kansas shows but few authentic returns but mostly Republican.

Massachusetts.
BOSTON, November 5.—Boston shows a Republican loss of over 500, but Greenhalge will be elected Governor by over 55,000. Walcott (Rep.) for Lieutenant Governor, receives over 14,000 majority in fifty-four towns. Twenty towns in eastern Massachusetts give Greenhalge 10,000 majority. The woman's suffrage question is downed.

The Republicans claim the election of Greenhalge by 20,000 majority. Returns at midnight indicate a Republican majority of over 65,000 in the State.

Iowa.
DES MOINES, November 5.—Returns are slow. The general result, however, shows Republican gains. The Populist will double the vote of last year. Returns now show a majority of 63,000 for Drake (Rep.) for Governor. He is elected. So far as known there are seventy-four Republicans and twenty-six Democrats in the House, and forty-three Republicans and seven Democrats in the Senate.

Virginia.
RICHMOND, November 5.—The Democrats so far have elected six Senators and twenty-six members of the House.

William Stevenson, a farmer, was shot through the head while voting. He was shot by Sam Dickerson (colored). Dickerson escaped. Stevenson is not expected to live.

McGregor returns from other parts of the State suggest a Republican majority for Governor and also in legislative channels.

A WOLF IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING.

The Carson Appeal says Rev. J. Fred Holmes, pastor of the Episcopal Church at Carson some years ago has fallen from grace. He was a man of fine address, preached eloquent sermons, was a favorite with the fair sex and out considerable of a swath socially. He swindled a Mrs. Taft and a Mrs. Wheelock out of several thousand dollars in California and then went to New York. Now James Blecker Clark Ventry, 149 Broadway, New York, has written to Bishop Nichols of California regarding him, as it appears he has been behaving badly in New York.

The Discovery Saved His Life.
M. G. Caillouette, Druggist, Beaverville, Ill., says: To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail, and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use, and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

Cure For Headache.
As a remedy for all forms of headache, Electric Bitters has proved to be the very best. It effects a permanent cure and the most dreaded habitual sick headaches yield to its influence. We urge all who are afflicted to procure a bottle, and give this remedy a fair trial. In cases of habitual constipation Electric Bitters cures, by giving the needed tone to the bowels, and few cases long resist the use of this medicine. Try it once. Large bottles only fifty cents at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

THAT JOYFUL FEELING
With the exhilarating sense of renewed health and strength and internal cleanliness, which follows the use of Syrup of Figs, is unknown to the few who have not progressed beyond the old time medicines and the cheap substitutes sometimes offered but never accepted by the well informed.

Oh! My Back!
A good many tired men and women could get rid of that pain in their back if they would try Parks' Sure Cure for the Liver and Kidneys. The trouble is usually there and Parks' Sure Cure reaches and cures it. Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT IN SESSION.
The Mint Shortage Cases—A Verdict of Seventy-Five Jurors Drawn.
[Correspondence of the JOURNAL.]
CARSON CITY, Nov. 5, 1895.
The United States Circuit Court Judge Hawley presiding, has been in session yesterday and to-day, transacting general business. The Carson Mint shortage cases will come up for trial next week, coinciding with James Heney on Monday. These cases are liable to occupy considerable more time than did the preliminary examinations, as it will be borne in mind that merely sufficient testimony was adduced by the prosecution to hold the defendants for trial, no testimony for the defense being taken or offered.

COUNTY FINANCES.
The floating indebtedness at this date.
At the close of business October 31st there were outstanding claims against the county as follows:
General Fund, $4,638 33; Road Fund, $8,009 53. The Board of Commissioners November 4th allowed claims amounting to $561 14 on General Fund and $1,087 80 on the Road Fund, making the total floating indebtedness $12,300. As these claims will have to be paid out of the first receipts into the treasury it will be seen that considerable of the revenue of the county will be absorbed before the beginning of the new year.

That Tired Feeling
Means danger. It is a serious condition and will lead to disastrous results if it is not overcome at once. It is a sure sign that the blood is impoverished and impure. The best remedy is HOOD'S Sarsaparilla. Which makes rich, healthy blood, and thus gives strength and elasticity to the muscles, vigor to the brain and health and vitality to every part of the body. Hood's Sarsaparilla positively Makes the Weak Strong. "I suffered with tired feeling and run down condition, and I was generally out of order. I am now taking my third bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and the tired feeling is gone and I feel like a different man. I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all who suffer as I did." J. F. All the old-timers express much pleasure on learning of the mining revival in the dear old State, and I find but few who lived in Nevada for any length of time who do not wish for and believe in its future prosperity. I for one have constantly advocated the idea that nothing but enterprise and joint effort is needed to raise Nevada to a far higher pinnacle of prosperity than it has ever before occupied, and now can realize the coming fulfillment of my prophecy. The day is not far distant when by the means of proper water storage every acre of sagebrush land will be made productive; when railroads shall intersect the Carson and other valleys, and the raising of hay and grain made profitable; when live cattle can be shipped directly from the valley ranches at freight prices which will enable the raisers to compete with California and other sections of the country; when not a ham or piece of bacon need be imported, but exported at paying prices.

In California the courts have decided that the taxes levied for one year cannot be applied to the payment of indebtedness incurred in another year. An act of the Legislature of Nevada provides that the Board of County Commissioners shall not for any purpose contract debts or liabilities, except those expressly authorized by law, and whenever debts or liabilities have been created, which added to the salaries of county officers and other estimated liabilities, fixed by law for the remainder of the year, shall equal the money on hand in the treasury at the time applicable to the payment of such salaries and said other fixed liabilities, then no allowance shall be made of any account, nor shall any expense be incurred other than salaries and fees and fixed liabilities, expressly authorized by law during the remainder of said year.

SAM DAVIS' ROMANCE.
He Tells About the Origin of the Silver Party.
An article in the San Francisco Call on the "Political Revolution in Nevada," written by Sam Davis, gives what purports to be the origin of the Silver party. Sam is a humorist and he indulges in several jokes which the gold press swallows as facts. For instance he tells about a meeting of the Press Association at which it was decided in the next campaign the Republican party, then the dominant party in the State, could run its politics without the assistance of the newspapers. The action of the committee was ratified by a meeting soon afterward held in the JOURNAL office, and a resolution was passed by which each publisher in the association bound himself to support no man for office who was not unequivocally committed to the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. The resolution was debated two hours before adoption.

Look Into Your Condition.
J. A. Fitzgerald always "catches on" to any new novelty, and he has procured a little contrivance that indicates the pulsations of the heart, the flow of the blood through the circulatory system and in fact demonstrates with the accuracy of a self-registering thermometer whether a fellow is "in it" or not. If anyone has any doubt regarding his physical condition he should try the test and if he cannot register the mark that indicates good health he should consider a trip to the sea coast or purchase a case of Bartlett water from Mr. Fitzgerald, which will make him as good as new.

They Had Probably Shunk.
Officer Nash found a bundle of clothing yesterday and from the fact that it was very wet he concluded that it was probable that it was the suit that Chief Hodgkinson wore at the University fair, so he left the bundle at the engine house. Later the bundle was delivered to Sam at his drug store, but after carefully looking it over he was in great doubt. A large apple was found in each pocket of the pants and Sam identified the apples at once, but he'd be darned if they were his pants, as they were not long enough to make respectable bloomers for him.

Sam Davis' Romance.
He Tells About the Origin of the Silver Party.
An article in the San Francisco Call on the "Political Revolution in Nevada," written by Sam Davis, gives what purports to be the origin of the Silver party. Sam is a humorist and he indulges in several jokes which the gold press swallows as facts. For instance he tells about a meeting of the Press Association at which it was decided in the next campaign the Republican party, then the dominant party in the State, could run its politics without the assistance of the newspapers. The action of the committee was ratified by a meeting soon afterward held in the JOURNAL office, and a resolution was passed by which each publisher in the association bound himself to support no man for office who was not unequivocally committed to the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. The resolution was debated two hours before adoption.

ABOUT SHIPS' BELLS.
A LANGUAGE MORE EXTENSIVE THAN LANDSMEN SUPPOSE.

In addition to announcing the time the bells are used for making certain signals - formalities on board a Naval Vessel at Eight Bells.

The language of a ship's bell, so significant to a sailor man, is full of mystery for the average landlubber, and most of the visitors to a warship leave the ship as ignorant of the meaning of the bell signals as when they went aboard.

Commander Rockwell, U. S. N., has given some information on the subject which will be interesting to the thousands who have visited Uncle Sam's ships.

"As haunting to the medium through which a ship ordinarily communicates with the outside world," he says, "so the bell is that through which she addresses herself to those aboard, and which in all the navies of the world rings forth the hours, summons to worship and leads the danger signals.

"Every landsman has probably learned and forgotten the method of striking the bell aboard ship, but the dulcet may make sure of this knowledge for the rest of his life by getting two or three things clear in his head. The nautical day begins and ends at noon, when eight bells is struck. The bell is struck half hourly day and night, one stroke being added for every half hour, until eight is reached, when the count begins again at one bell.

"Thus the hours are indicated in every navy of the civilized world, except the British. Here there is a curious deviation from the ordinary naval method of indicating the hour.

"In the matter of the bell there is in the United States navy a routine long established by precedent. The bell, usually a small affair, of rather high, light tone, hangs either just forward or just abaft of the foremast, on or under the forecabin.

"The captain's orderly keeps the time and reports to the officer of the deck the hour in terms of bells. The officer of the deck then bids the messenger of the watch to strike the bell.

"There is somewhat more formality at eight bells than at other times, for then the hour is reported to the captain, and the bell is not struck until he has said, 'Make it so.'

"Here is the routine at 8 a. m.: 'The orderly says to the officer of the deck, 'Eight bells, sir.' The officer of the deck replies, 'Report to the captain eight bells and chronometers wound, sir.' The orderly then goes to the captain and says, 'Eight bells and chronometers wound, sir.' The captain, if he be so minded, replies, 'Very well. Make it so.' The orderly returns to the officer of the deck and says, 'Make it so.' The officer of the deck says to the messenger of the watch, 'Strike eight bells,' and if everybody has been prompt the messenger strikes eight bells at exactly 8 a. m.

"Nobody knows whether it would be eight bells if the disguised captain should take it into his head to withhold his majestic 'Make it so,' for an American naval captain is so powerful a person aboard ship and routine has so powerful a hold on the navy that perhaps the captain, if so minded, might put the nautical day out of joint.

"When ships are cruising in squadron, the entire fleet, lying in port, awaits the flagship's bells. On all the other ships the messenger stands by the bell, clapper in hand, and as soon as the bell has sounded the bells throughout the fleet are sounded. Lying, as they are, quite close together, the effect is interesting and agreeable.

"The flagship also gives out the time to the other vessels every morning. Shortly before seven bells, at 7:30 o'clock a. m., a time signal is displayed by the flagship. At exactly 7:30 this signal drops, the clocks on all the ships are set, and seven bells is struck throughout the fleet.

"The ship's bell serves not only to indicate the hours, but to signal a variety of other things. When the ship carries a chaplain, the bell is tolled for service on Sunday morning. The bell, however, is not tolled at funerals. With a nice sense of propriety the navy regulations provide for the mere passing of the word, 'All hands bury the dead.' In all matters pertaining to death the navy is distinguished for delicacy and a touch of old fashioned sentiment, to be expected of men who, in theory at least, are supposed to be risking their lives in the service of others.

"The bell is also the fire signal. When a fire is discovered aboard ship, the bell is rung rapidly, and the ship's company responds with the proper appliances for putting out the fire. When a ship is in action, however, the bell is not used as a fire signal, lest the knowledge that there is a fire aboard ship throw the crew into panic and distract them from their business of fighting. A fire during action is reported to the captain, and he details officers and men to the duty of putting out the blaze.

"The ship's bell is employed in all the navies, except the Turkish, as a fog signal. When a ship lies at anchor in a fog the bell is kept going with strokes in sets of three, separated by a short interval. The Turks, who have a distrust of bells, use drums for this purpose.

"The provisions of the United States navy make it impossible that the various signals of the bells shall be confused one with another. The tolling for church, single strokes, separated by a single interval, cannot be mistaken for the rapid and irregular fire alarm, nor can either of these be confused with the triple fog signal. The half hour signals are different from either of these. They are sounded in pairs, with a short interval. If an odd number is to be sounded the single stroke comes last." - Boston Globe.

An Uncommonplace Man.
I have always found myself one of the most noticeable of human beings. I cannot, to this day, take in anything at secondhand. I have in all cases to learn whatever I want to learn in a way of my own. It has been so with law, with languages, with Indian administration, with the machinery I have had to study in patent cases, with English composition in short with everything whatever. - "Life of Sir James Fitzjames Stephen."

POOR BOBOLINK!
Baltimore Treatment of a Song Bird by the "Vermont Farmer."

Philadelphia is the only city in the world where the redbird can be found in a state of overgrown obesity, and the only place where it can be cooked to perfection. In New York the French cooks conceal its delicate toothsome in rich dressing. There they know as little about redbirds as they do about terrapin, scrapple and pepper pot. There was given in this city one dinner in which redbirds were served in 18 different forms. Among the courses were soup made from redbirds, redbirds stuffed with Blue Point oysters, redbirds placed inside a hollowed potato and roasted, redbirds stuffed with herb and baked, redbirds stewed with fresh mushrooms, redbirds split and broiled - an abominable practice, by the way; redbirds saute, and a seeming pie, from which, when the crust was lifted, two dozen redbirds flew forth and around the room.

But, after all, there is only one way to cook and eat the succulent redbird - saute! Select birds which have little clumps of yellow fat on both sides of the part last over the fence. Place them in a saucepan - or, better still, a chafing dish - with plenty of the best butter, salt, black pepper, and a plentiful sprinkling of paprika - the sweet Hungarian pepper which nowadays can be found in any first class grocery. They must not be split and their heads must not be removed. Cook them for five or six minutes, according to the size of the bird and the heat of the fire, but do not allow the yellow fat to become browned. Nothing could be simpler, and yet few, very few, cooks can prepare the redbird without destroying its toothsome.

There is an art also in the eating of his dainties, but it can only be applied to birds of the character and prepared in the manner described above. Wring off the head and sink your teeth into and absorb the brains. Then hold the little darling aloft by the protruding bones of both legs, and slipping him into a watering mouth crunch your way through his carcass until not a bit of him remains but the leg bones. Then cast your eyes above and say grace. That's eating redbirds, that is - Philadelphia Times.

JOSEPHINE WAS MERCIFUL.
She Tried to Prevent the Execution of the Duke of Enghien.

Mme. Bonaparte learned with intense sorrow of the determination taken by her husband. In the main his measures and his convictions had been kept a secret, but she confided both to Mme. De Remusat, and the first consul himself had told them to Joseph. On the 20th the decree for the duke's imprisonment and trial was dictated by the first consul from the Tuileries, and in the early afternoon he returned to Malmaison, where at 9 o'clock Joseph found him strolling in the park, conversing with Talleyrand, who loped along at his side. "I'm afraid of that cripple," was Josephine's greeting to her brother-in-law. "Interrupt this long talk if you can."

The mediation of the elder brother was kindly and skillful, and for a time the first consul seemed softened by the memories of his own and his brother's boyhood, among which came and went the figure of the Prince of Condé. But other feelings prevailed. The brothers had differed about Lucien's marriage and the question of descent if the consular power should become hereditary. The old coolness finally settled down and chilled the last hopes in the tender hearted advocate for clemency. To Josephine's tearful entreaties for mercy her husband replied: "Go away. You're a child. You don't understand public affairs." By 5 it was known that the duke had arrived at Vincennes, and at once Savary was dispatched to the city for orders from Murat, the military commander. On his arrival at Murat's office, from which Talleyrand was in the very act of departing, he was informed that the court martial was already convened, and that it would be his duty to guard the prisoner and execute whatever sentence was passed.
